

Anne-Marie Longpré

*Heydon Park Secondary School
Toronto, Ontario, Canada*

Anne-Marie Longpré is a high school teacher in Toronto, Ontario, Canada. She teaches at Heydon Park Secondary School, a school just for girls (inclusive of Trans and Non-Binary!) with special education needs. For 17 years, Anne-Marie has been working to make reading more accessible (and more fun!) for emerging readers with learning disabilities. She has been building a collection of graphic novels, high-interest non-fiction, and page-turner classics to hook her students into a life of Book Love. She is excited to put this grant to work to refresh her collection for incoming students in September, and to keep introducing kids to the empathy and imagination of books.
