

Quinn Katherineberg

Memphis, Tennessee

Quinn is a 10th grade English and Facing History teacher at Crosstown High in Memphis, TN. Driven by equity, community, and joy, Quinn is compelled to continue growing her classroom library to grow and maintain a love of learning inside and outside of the classroom.

Quinn has an interest in giving students empathy-building experiences that help them connect with the characters in their books and the people around them. Quinn's school serves a cross-section of Memphis with students coming from over 30 different middle schools, so there is no shortage of opportunity for building shared experiences through stories.
